beloved grandchildren. Most recently, Paul enjoyed watching his great-grandchild Ashlynn show her prized Miniature Herefords.

Paul's loved ones reflect on his steadfast dedication to his family. He lost his father at the tender age of seven and prematurely began sharing the responsibility of the household. He sacrificed much, putting aside his own needs and ambitions to ensure his family never went without. These values founded a lifelong principle that Paul shared with everyone who knew him; his family always came first. Paul is remembered as a patient man, with kindness to spare. He is a shining reflection of God's light, a beacon to his family and inspiration to all who knew him. He will always be celebrated as a loving husband, father, grandfather and Cookie Monster.

Uncle Paul has such a wonderful soul. We were all blessed to be apart of his life. God needed him. And we will miss him for the rest of our lives. But he has paved away for the rest of us. Let's rejoice we will all be together again.
