8 years old... I was 8 when I met you... I'm now 18... we have so many memories together, from out slip n slides when we lived in pahrump to when you peed on my shoulders... twice. never a day goes by where I'm not thinking of you. you're my very best friend, but not just my best friend, my big sister. you mean the world to me to this day. I still look at my phone hoping to see a call or a text from you while you're at work.. you always texted or called me... everyday... forever will be missed and never will be forgotten... my life has forever been changed. I love you and I miss you so much, thank you for the best memories over the 10 almost 11 years I spent with you. now everything i do is for you.

I'll never forget seeing you jump out of that truck to run and jump in Gavin's arms that first day I brought him to Texas to meet you or the way your grandpa looked at you guys. I thought I was going to have to call in a missing persons report for my son by week's end. Your smile and laughter warmed my heart. Your tiny voice so excited the first time you called me mom and hugged my neck. Your eyes always danced with such bright curiosity. I loved you like you were one of my own and my heart breaks everyday you're gone. I'll never forget the way you laughed when we helped my granddaughter sound out your name and then when she put it all together she proudly screamed Sabeanbean, you laughed so hard you cried. I miss you every single day and will forever. I love you Brie Brie. Rest easy sweet angel ❤️

Little Sabrina. That is how I will always remember you. 12 years old. That is when I met you. Such a beautiful young lady with so much potential. It saddens me deep in my soul that your life has been cut so short. Your mom is really going through it. I am trying to comfort her the best I can. I am her best friend and I Love Her. RIP Little Angel.
